1. The airfield at Dziwnowo was taken over from the Russians at the end of 1946 and is still under Polish control. During August 1948 plans were being worked out for its return to the Russians, but in October these plans were abruptly abandoned, and it was decided to place the field under Czech control. Several Czech administrators have already arrived at Dziwnowo, and the Czech Minister of Industry visited the ~~place~~ in late October.
2. The hangars at the Dziwnowo field were formerly used as warehouses for German plane motors of the Junker-217 J model. These motors are now being shipped to Russia via Swinoujscie.
3. No active air units have been assigned yet to the Dziwnowo field.
